

It's Raining

Words and Music © 1984 by Jamie McElman,
Mountain Rise Music, All Rights Reserved

An' we'll laugh about days gone by
But in your voice I can still hear the blame
Concerning choices I made at one time
You say we could've been spared all this pain
Well, I'm sorry, I don't see it that way
But two years later, on a rainy day
I guess I still wonder
Could the love have been saved?

Once you believed in life, and your dreams
And you knew love was not just a game
Written words ensured safety, it seemed
But over distance you failed just the same
Too many times it seems to happen that way
With the rain and the thunder I feel you coming in An' I guess I still wonder
Could we do this again?

Maybe I should try to explain
About the way that I feel now
Emotions come to call when it rains
And it's raining, it's raining
It's raining.

Once I had faith in time, and believed
That alone love could carry the day
Well could it be now I've been easily deceived
By how quickly love fades away
I'm close to fed up and refusing to play
Because every time I give, it seems I lose my way
And I'm starting to wonder
What's the use anyway?

Now, don't misunderstand what I say
It's not a song about failure
It's memories that I give you today
'Cause it's raining, it's raining
It's raining.

Yeah, we'll laugh about days gone by
Chances are though they'll ne'er be the same
I'll always cherish the look in your eyes
Misty blue, sometimes grey, like the rain.