

Those Who Remain

Words and Music © 1991 by Jamie McElman,
Mountain Rise Music, All Rights Reserved

Some people never go out of style
Those you turn to again and again
Their voices carry across the miles
Always letting you know they're your friends.

These friendships, they're not easy to find
So few remain with the passing of time
Those unbroken links in the chain
Forged in the fires of love and of pain.

(chorus)

Too many souls have walked these corridors
Too many loves have slipped away
Many's the memory left me wanting more
And I cherish the few who remain
To those who remain.

The rules we live by
Should be golden indeed
Give what you can
Please take what you need
Trust our love to shine indefinitely
You're the lighthouse
Always beckoning me.

(chorus)