

Jonas And Jeremy

Words and Music © 1979 by Jamie McElman,
Mountain Rise Music, All Rights Reserved

So the great expectation
Didn't keep you high
So you smiled and waved
Sold your stocks and your suits
And you said goodbye.

*"I'm going back to the start
No more tumbling dice"
And you tell me now
"I like the game, but I rarely play twice".*

So the Big 'ol Apple
Just wasn't the place to be
So you sold your pad to some nouveau riche
And bought a dive shop in the Keys.

It's your second chance
No more NYC
And you tell me now
*"I'm gonna find a new romance
This time's it's 'tween me and the sea".*

*"Hey 'ol Jonas, it's not like I'm on the run
I won't make big money
But by God, I'll have me some fun
You got ties in the city, well that's alright by me
But I'll live out the rest of my days
Cradled by the sea".*

So he took his chances
Left it all behind
Gave up color, solid state living
For black and white peace of mind
Almost every day, 'fore the sun hits the sea
I tell him now
I'm so glad I came along, my old friend Jeremy.

It ain't so hard now, to leave the city behind
You may wake one morning and find it's time to fly
An' Jonas and Jeremy, though they rarely let on Never made big money, but by God
They always had their fun.