Have you ever thought about
What you're doing in this world
Have you ever had a doubt
That there's anyone who cares
Come on and join the crowd
We all feel the same way too
Don't run your soul to ground
Life has bigger plans for you
Hey, you're good enough
You're more than good enough.

Caught with our defenses down
Springtime in the USA
Leaders, well, they can't be found
And they've thrown the facts away
Our brothers and our sisters die
We carve their names in stone
All that's left is to survive
We're truly on our own
Hey, you're good enough
You're more than good enough.

No one's ever seen a year so fucked like this year
People sick, in need, and gripped by their fear
Let us be the greater good
Let us keep our spirits high
Love our neighbor like we should Look that stranger in the eye
These are no feats of strength
It's just what decent people do.

Buckle up, America
It's gonna be a bumpy ride
Hobbled by the virus
And the political divide
Enough of politicians who
Are old and white like me
It's past time for the rest of you
To show us how to lead
Hey, you're good enough
You're more than good enough.
