

Grateful

Words and Music © 2020 by Jamie McElman
Mountain Rise Music, All Rights Reserved

I dream of places I've been
Time and time again
'Though not in this skin
Familiar faces in my dreams
Some are cherished faces
Who passed before then.

Left with fragments in my head
Daylight leads to a dead end
Yet each morning I wake up
I'm endlessly, boundlessly
Grateful.

I dream of a thousand moons
Rising in the nighttime skies
In some of my lives
The curve of a mountain road
One I've seen (I've seen it now) so many times
But not with these eyes.

I wake with lyrics in my head
It's as if the muses said
Take this and then you'll be
Endlessly, boundlessly
Grateful for these glimpses of the data
Let me soar across the great divide
Grateful for each word that makes the paper
Show me more ways to stay aligned.

Could it be dreams are just a key
To another life
To another timeline
If we could recall with clarity
All we've done and seen
Just where would we be?

Tap the knowledge in our heads (Tap the treasure(s) in our heads)
Into the vastness we ascend
And as long as we live
We'll be endlessly, boundlessly
Grateful.