Hello, Judas
I spit your name like the poison you are
Hey, Judas
You got your greedy hand outstretched.

Fawning little shell of a man
Filled with jealousy and hate
You lied straight-faced
To the ones you claimed to love
And betrayed us at the garden gate.

Hello, Judas
Branded for the traitor you are
Hey, Judas
You betrayed the world with your kiss.

You squandered your salvation
You're a liar and a thief
Crowned with your dark halo
Blood money won't buy you peace.

Hello, Judas
Your brothers know just how God damned you are
Hey, Judas
Your repentance is a rope.

You sold your soul for silver
Because money's what you crave
They found you hanging from a tree
Above the valley
And you rotted in a pauper's grave.
